Audience:
Leaders and / or key implementation staff for Relational Management initiatives in your school / college.

This intensive training will be facilitated by Marg Thorsborne, a well respected, and internationally recognised, pioneer, facilitator, and trainer in the field of Restorative Practices in schools. It will provide in-depth training for delegates to learn how to facilitate formal restorative conferences.

Agenda
The LEQ Relational Management Project has been an initiative designed to support and encourage Schools interested in developing Behaviour Management policies and procedures with a restorative and educative rather than punitive focus. It is based predominantly on the theory and strategies of Restorative Practices (RP), and affirms the value of teaching and mentoring, positive relationships and the development of lifelong qualities for effective learning in our Schools.

This training has been highly valued by LEQ to date and this 3 day PD provides a further opportunity to upskill new leaders and additional staff. It is highly recommended that leaders attend e.g. Deputy Principals, Pastoral care leaders, and others with key roles in behaviour management.

Delegates will learn “hands-on” skills for formal conferencing, and also gain significant insights that will guide the mentoring and implementation of RP into school culture.
